Prominently Featured in Student e-Newsletter
Gain visibility and manage your campus brand by incorporating an article in the monthly student e-newsletter, which will be distributed to over 6,500 Viterbi undergraduate and graduate students.
Guest Blogger and Social Media Takeover
Create a blog series as a Guest Blogger on ViterbiConnect. Let students get to know the people behind the company brand by profiling an up-and-coming engineer in the company, showcasing community outreach, or discussing how your mission statement is apparent in the type of work you do.

Broaden your network and drive more student engagement through social media takeovers of Twitter and Facebook feeds. Have the CEO, CTO or an engineer snap a few photos and send captions of what really happens on a day-to-day basis or create hashtags and enticing visuals to engage students on the platforms they prefer.

 Recruiting Literature Displayed in SECC office
Distribute company literature and branded promotional items where students are most likely to see them when coming in for career related activities in the SECC waiting area.

Targeted, Position-Specific e-Resume Book

Serve as Engineer in Residence
The Engineer in Residence program is designed to give students and Allies the opportunity to interact with one another in a consistent and more personal setting. It will bring industry engineers on campus to impart knowledge and experience onto current engineering students to ensure that they understand expectations of professional employment, are better prepared for their initial employment, and to form closer ties between industry and education.

This program is designed to be flexible and work around the time commitment and availability of the Engineer in Residence, and can include a workshop series, weekly/bi-weekly/monthly office hours, mentorship, project advising/consulting, and more!
